JEWELRY STORE BURGLARIZED.

Petty Thieves Ply Their Vocation Successfully at Leibson's Store. Burglars effected an entrance into J. W. Leibson's pawn shop and jewelry store in the Armory hall block at about 2 o'clock yesterday morning by breaking one of the large plate glass win-

The thieves removed several revolvers that laid within on the counter. Will Price, the druggist, whose sleeping apartments adjoin, on bearing the crash of the broken glass instantly clothed himself and started out to make observations of the trouble. The thisves hearing him approaching fled. They undoubtedly would have secured considerable valuable plunder had they not been disturbed, as the large show cases within the store contained valuable gold and silver watches. The window was shattered to pieces. There is not the slightest clue as to who committed the robbery and the inference is it will go on record as another mys-

STARTLED THE JUDGES.

Constable Glyna's report to court on Tnesday must have startled the judges somewhat. Ten violators of the liquor law are not usually found in one ward, much less returned to court. It is to be hoped that the cases will be followed up, and that the county officials will make some effort to give them a fair trial. - Gazatte.

Mr. Glynn is the lion of the hour for his fearlessness so far as he has gone, but the universal regret is that he discriminated in so far as to pass unnoticed certain 'speak-casies" that exist and flourish within a stone's throw of his own house.

Thomas McArthur is out of town on special business.

The whereabouts of the dog that attempted to eat John Banigan's boy on Sunday last are still unknown. Burgess Snyder and High Constable Max Kohler have been gunning for the "purp" with intent to kill, but the animal cannot be located. Unless the owner of the vicious cur gives the officials an opportunity to draw a bead upon his frame, it is probable that legal proceedings will be taken. The dog's propensities for inserting his molars into the firsh of bipeds has rendered him extremely unpopular in the neighborhood. Banagan's boy is the third victim of his playfulness.
